

for higher mileage transmissions you need an award winning formula

Valvoline® MaxLife™ ATF is the first full synthetic transmission fluid specifically designed for higher-mileage transmissions. It is a blend of superior base oils with unique seal conditioners, long-life friction modifiers, special anti-wear agents and sheer stable viscosity improvers.

- Recommended for use in high-mileage, new and rebuilt transmissions and WILL NOT void new car warranties.
- Condition transmission seals to prevent leaks
- Reduce varnish formation and wear
- Improve and maintain smooth shifting performance longer than conventional automatic transmission fluids.
- Provide excellent flow at low temperatures and greater film protection at high temperatures.
